"I Was Sick—Dizzy—Worn-Out."

North Weymouth, Mass., Dec. 14.—Paine's Celery Compound is the best and most effective medicine I have ever taken. I was sick, dizzy and worn out for a long time and unable to attend to business. My blood was in troublesome condition. I was advised to try Paine's Celery Compound, which I did with pleasing results, and in a short time I was able to return to my business. My blood is greatly benefited. I would advise all who are run down by overwork or who need a blood tonic to take Paine's Celery Compound. They will find that it will be a great benefit to them.

S. T. ALEXANDER STRUCK
BY A FALLING BOULDERParticulars of the Fatal Accident at Victoria Falls to the Well-known Honolulu—Had a Foreboding of Disaster.

Further particulars of the death of Mr. Samuel T. Alexander have been received in a letter written by his daughter, Annie, at Victoria Falls. On Sept. 7th, Mr. Alexander and his daughter were at Bulawayo, and thence rode to visit the grave of Cecil Rhodes at Matapao. The air was cool and exhilarating, but Mr. Alexander seemed a little depressed, and said that he felt a foreboding of disaster. In the evening, they took the cars for Victoria Falls, and there arrived the following morning.

In the afternoon, (Sept. 8th), they walked out to take their first view of the Falls; and Mr. Alexander again spoke of his forebodings, and carefully informed his daughter where to find his letters of credit and the tickets for their voyage on the steamer to leave Capetown for England on Sept. 28.

The next morning, at 9.45 o'clock, they crossed by cable over the chasm of the Zambesi to obtain a better view of the Falls at the opposite shore. They observed that men were constructing a foundation for a bridge and throwing rocks and earth into the canyon but they thought nothing of it. Finding a trail leading into the ravine, called Palm Grove, they descended by it, at 12 o'clock, to view the falls from below. Mr. Alexander was much interested in comparing the Falls with Niagara. He thought it too divided to be grand, but very beautiful. The trail was very rocky, but Mr. Alexander skipped ahead like a boy, calling to his daughter to follow.

They had just clambered over some great boulders to look up into the terminus of the waterfall, when they observed small rocks falling down the precipice, about 350 feet high, directly above them. They instantly turned and ran, the daughter ahead. Looking up she saw two men leaning over a railing watching herself and her father. When they had run about 30 yards, and seemed to be out of danger, the daughter set up her camera, while her father stood leaning against a rock six or eight feet distant observing her. Something caused her to look up, and she saw a boulder, about three feet thick, bounding toward her. It seemed likely to pass by at a little distance; but striking a rock it veered, and struck her father's foot, and she found him writhing on the ground. She called to the men above for help and ran to him. Three of them quickly arrived with bandages and cotton. Mr. Alexander said to his daughter, "This ends my career, Annie; I am too old a man to stand an operation." The men bound up his foot, and bore him to a bamboo hut on the ridge; and there they waited for a doctor. Mr. Alexander said to his daughter, "Is this a dream, or a reality?" and again, "I am glad that it was I, and not you that was struck." When the doctor arrived, he dressed the foot, and stopped the bleeding which had been profuse. Mr. Alexander was then borne on a stretcher by six negroes, his daughter walking by his side, to the home of the doctor. He suffered much and complained of nausea. They were walking in deep sand through a dreary region of burnt brush, and to the great distress of his daughter, made slow progress. Mr. Alexander was finally carried into a neat little bamboo house on the doctor's premises; and there the amputation was performed, with administration of chloroform and with the aid of two white assistants. The daughter remained with him during the operation, and continued with him afterwards alone, while a negro errand boy was outside at the door. Once the doctor came and administered strychnine hypodermically; but Mr. Alexander gradually grew weaker, and died at half past two the next morning, Sept. 10.

The funeral was conducted by Mr. Sykes, the Commissioner, at Livingstone, four miles from Victoria Falls; and the burial was in a small graveyard which was fenced with bamboo and ornamented with large shade trees.

VOTERS CANNOT SET
ASIDE PRINCIPLES

Editor Advertiser: The Republican enrollments are headed with the following words: "The undersigned declare that they are Republicans, and that they intend to act with the Republican party, hereby pledging themselves to vote the Republican ticket."

Every self respecting subscriber to this tenet has the right to assume and to demand that good faith shall be kept with him in this matter by the nominating conventions and that no name shall be placed on the ticket for which he may not conscientiously vote. Any defection from this principle should very properly release him from strict adherence to the ticket. Good material is not always available; opinions may differ; compromises are frequently necessary and personal opinions and preferences may be set aside in the interest of harmonious progress but not principles. To assume that self respecting voters are so far in the minority that they may safely be ignored, is to assume a deplorably low state of public morals. To act upon that assumption is to declare a readiness to acquiesce in this state of affairs, or alternatively, to acknowledge the futility of any attempt to stem the prevailing tide. those who do not appreciate them, but high ethical standards should certainly be required of aspirants for political honors.

It is very much to be regretted that party and personal considerations, following the methods prevailing on the mainland, have so largely obtained in Hawaiian politics as against broad public considerations. "Our party at whatever cost," like "our country right or wrong," sounds forth a sorry conception of justice and honor that may well furnish ground for distrust, and might to our great credit be replaced by our country and our party because they are right, backed by a fixed resolution to see that they are so. "My country first, my state and party next, and my personal consideration last," as an evidence of mastery of the profound truth that in the attainment of the highest public welfare all else would be comprehended, would naturally be the dominating spirit of the citizen who should conduct his politics according to these high ideals.

ON LOOKOUT FOR KELLOGG

BERKELEY, Oct. 20.—The local postal officials have been given information that leads them to believe that Oliver M. Kellogg, the defaulting post-office clerk, sailed in the steamer in the steamer for Manila last Thursday, the day after he disappeared from his home in Berkeley, leaving muddled accounts and a helpless wife and infant child. The authorities at Honolulu, Nagasaki, Hongkong and the Philippine ports have been telegraphed to in the hope of apprehending the fugitive. This information just received accords with the theory first advanced by the postal authorities that the young man did not try to escape by rail from San Francisco.

VERY ANNOYING

This Hardly Expresses What
Honolulu People Say
of It.

Good natured people are often irritable.

If you knew the reason, you would not be surprised.

Ever have itching piles?

Not sick enough to go to bed; not well enough to be content.

The constant itching sensation.

Hard to bear; harder to get relief.

Spoils your temper, nearly drives you crazy.

Isn't relief and cure a long-felt want?

You can have relief if you will follow the advice of this gentleman.

Mr. Frank Leibly of 326 S. Main st., Wilkesbarre, Pa., U. S., who says: "It is with much pleasure that I testify to the merits of Doan's Ointment in cases of itching piles. I suffered from that tormenting affliction for the past year. I tried nearly everything that was recommended to me and what I saw advertised, but I could get no relief. Finally I procured Doan's Ointment. After a few applications I was much relieved, and, continuing the treatment, I was soon completely cured. I have felt no signs of that intolerable itching since, and it is four months ago since I used Doan's Ointment. To say that I was delighted is only half expressing my enthusiasm. I recommend this remedy whenever the opportunity is presented. You may publish my statement at any time and I can always be found at 326 S. Main street, and will vouch for the same."
